

Gratz Academy: A Dynamic Option for Your Teens

Help them earn college credit through your high school program!

Classes can be offered online, on-site, or a hybrid of both.

Teens – and their parents – want to squeeze the most out of every minute of their busy lives. Gratz Academy satisfies the academically talented teen and the parent who are looking to enhance the college admission process. Teens earn college credits while still in high school and receive a Gratz College transcript. Many colleges and universities allow students to transfer college credits earned in high school, making matriculation towards an undergraduate degree easier and potentially less costly.

Three Models of Partnership (Happy to pilot new models, too!)

1

Gratz Academy Supplements an Existing Program

We supplement your existing program with the addition of a class taught by a Gratz faculty member. We provide the online class, instructor and supervision. An example of this is our work with HaZamir: The International Jewish High School Choir.

Gratz Academy Builds College Level Classes With You

We work with your faculty to build classes up to college standards. You hire your own faculty and teach on your own campus. The students pay a separate fee directly to Gratz. Please ask about our Jewish Teaching Certificates, which provide added value to your program. Examples of this model are Yachad: The Jewish Educational Platform for Teens in Minneapolis, MN and Temple Emanuel in Cherry Hill, NJ.

3

Gratz Academy Enhances Existing Programs

We evaluate your existing programs and upon successful analysis, confer college credit for any number of classes that meet the criteria. Examples of this model are Tichon Ramah Yerushalayim and URJ Helene Heller High.

Our list of partners is growing. Please consider growing your program with us.
